

Press Release

October 2006

Record early entries for 2007

Halfway through October and 21 entries were lodged for the 2007 ARB Warn Outback Challenge – a true indication that 4wd motorsport really is growing in Australia and also that this is the world's best four wheel drive competition.

All the top place-getters from 2006 are lining up including winners Rohan Canavan and Wayne Smith, second place Cass Jones who comes all the way from Western Australia to compete each year. Victorian boys Neil Cooper will also be back alongside 4wd competition veteran Chris Hummer and Kym Bolton is back too.

It is also great to see newcomers to the sport and we anticipate that before the end of the year when entries close we will have 20 percent of the field as first timers.

Work on the 2007 special stages is well underway and the event will follow the same theme as 2006 with all competitors coming together mid-week and also on the last day to battle out for the top placings on the one station property which is great for spectators too.

Competitors who are interested in taking on the NSW outback in this great event should email info@outback4x4challenge or jump on the website for more details www.outback4x4challenge.com.

Information on spectator packages and discounts for groups or clubs is also available online.
